

River Crossing

300 POINTS

The Raft

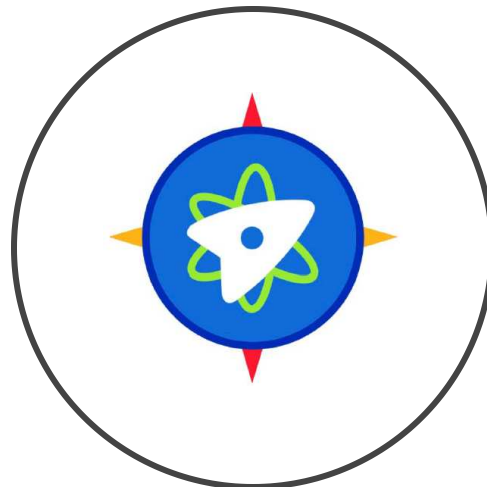

A farmer is trying to get some grass and some animals across a river. The raft can hold any two things at a time and aside from the farmer, only his trusty ape can row the raft across.

Aside from the farmer and the ape, there is some grass, a bull, a rhino, and a goat that need to be brought across the river, but there are some conditions.

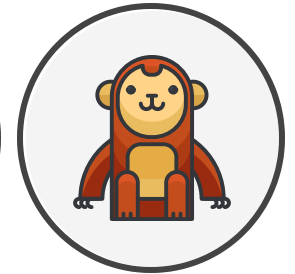

The goat cannot be left with the grass without the farmer being present. The bull cannot be left with the rhino without the farmer being present. The ape cannot be left with either the goat OR the bull without the farmer being present.

How can the farmer and the ape get everything across under these conditions?
